

South Davis Transit Study

March 2007 News Article

South Davis Transit Study Draft Environmental Impact Statement

The Utah Department of Transportation and the Utah Transit Authority have teamed to develop a Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) for mass transit in South Davis County. The study is being conducted to identify the best transit solution or solutions for South Davis County.

The DEIS builds on a previous study that was conducted by the Wasatch Front Regional Council and is divided into two phases. The first phase is comprised of an Alternative Analysis process that will conclude with the identification of a Locally Preferred Alternative in late 2007.

The second phase of the South Davis Transit DEIS is the detailed evaluation of impacts pursuant to the National Environmental Policy Act. The timeline for the second phase of the DEIS has not yet been determined.

The project study area begins in downtown Salt Lake City and ends in Farmington, including the communities of North Salt Lake, Woods Cross, Bountiful, West Bountiful, and Centerville.

An extensive stakeholder and public involvement program has been developed in order to gain community input on the project as it progresses through each of the major tasks. To provide comments on the project or to attain additional information please visit the South Davis Transit Study website at www.udot.utah.gov/southdavistransit, call the project hotline at 1-888-721-4211, or contact the public involvement team at 801-262-8700. Your input is greatly appreciated!

